SEIZURE OF A SCHOONER.

Deputy Sheriff W. Sheldon Makes a Haul.

William Sheldon, the Deputy Sheriff of Waianae, and one of the cleverest opium catchers in the country, made a good haul on Saturday. He received information that a schooner was anchored at Keau on this island. Proceeding to that place he met a man from the vessel and arrested him. He then notified the Honolulu authorities, and Marshal Brown, Deputy Collector Mc-Stock, Port Surveyor Sanders, and a posse of police immediately embarked in the Eleu and steamed for Keau.

The schooner was boarded by Marshal Brown and formally seized by McStock for violating the revenue laws of the Hawaiian Islands.

The schooner, which flies the British flag, is called the Henrietta, Anderson master. She is from Victoria, B. C., bound for La Paz, Mexico. The captain claims that he called at Keau to obtain water and provisions. The crew consist of three white men and a Chinese cook. On board was a passenger who gave his name as C. E. Gale.
On board the schooner was found a considerable amount of tins supposed to contain opium. The manifest states that the cargo is opium for La Paz. The amount described on the manifest is identically the same as was shipped some time ago by the Custom House to R. P.
Rithet, Victoria—a fact of considerable significance.

The Custom House authorities have engaged the assistance of the secret service in Victoria and have been in receipt of letters notifying them of the departure from Victoria of the Henrietta with opium ostensibly for Mexico, but believed to be intended for Hawaii. It was acting under that information that the Eleu has been chasing around lately and catching bibles. The dope was finally located by Mr. Sheldon without the assistance of the Customs officials or their man-of-war.

There was no change in the price of opium during the day, which shows that the lot caught was not dependent on by the dealers, and that the Henrietta has had ample time and opportunity to land at other points. Nobody believes for a moment that the vessel, if she is a smuggler, would come here with only half a ton on board of cheap stuff.

The Henrietta is lying at the Oceanic wharf in charge of customs officers, and her master, crew and the passengers slept in jail last night.
